

Congratulations on reaching the SUMMIT, Steven!

Well done!

We hope this exercise helped you to reflect on everyday behaviors. It definitely helped us learn a lot about you—your strengths and areas you could improve upon.

Your performance in the CGISOL ARISE GROWTH MINDSET stayed the same.

Let's take a moment to understand what your behavioral profile looks like over the course of the journey.

STRENGTHS

Excellent! You've made tremendous progress in developing a new skill. You should be proud of your achievement. Remember, regular practice will sharpen these skills.

Driving Innovation
Generate, test, and refine ideas by seeking multiple perspectives

Tackling Change
Tackle and overcome challenges and disruptions

Building Diverse Perspectives
Develop a questioning mind and be open to perspectives

Becoming an Agile Learner
Overcome obstacles to learning and persists with discipline

AREAS OF DEVELOPMENT

Don't be disappointed. Some of these skills require reflection, time, and effort to master. Be patient and remain strong on your path to honing these skills. Regular practice will help in building more efficient habits.

Self Management
Takes charge of personal growth and development

